A Resolution to Adjourn on Saturday Sento the Senate and There Meferred to the Committee on Appropriations-The Senate Refuses to Recommit the Anti-Option Bill by a Vote of 32 to 13-The Hudson River Bridge Bill Consigned to the " Dend List" - Proposed Investigation of the Homestend Strike-The O'Nelli Eight-Mour Bill Passed in the Sennte.

WARRINGTON, July 28.-The Homestead matter was again brought to the surface in the Senate to-day. The Committee on Contingent Expenses, to whom Mr. Peffer's original resolution of inquiry had been referred, accompanied by another resolution from Mr Sanders of Montana, broadening the inquiry so as to cover the Idaho troubles, reported the matter back in such shape as to include both subjects. The resolution provides for a select committee of seven to investigate the employ ment of Pinkerton men at Homestead, the investigation to include the circumstances which had led to the formation of this organization, its character, and the uses to which it had been applied since its creation. Also to inquire into the original controversy regarding wages, out of which the armed conflict arose, and to what extent that conflict was participated in by persons not natives of the United States. Also to inquire whether any private organization in Pennsylvania had assembled an armed force in violation of the Constitution of the United States, and whether armed bodies of men had been taken into that State without the consent of the State authorities. The committee was also authorized to investigate and report the facts in relation to the recent differences between workingmen and employers and other workingmen, involving bloodshed and loss of life in Shoshon county, Idaho.

The resolution coming before the Senate for immediate action, Mr. Quay (Rep., Pa.) objected to its present consideration, and it was laid over until to-morrow.

A special committee of five was appointed to investigate the Bureau of Geological Survey. (N. H.), Gorman (Md.), and Jones (Ark.), being named as members of the committee.

In the call of the calendar the Hudson River Bridge bill, which was taken up yesterday on motion of Mr. Blackburn (Dem., Ky.), was reached in regular order, but Mr. Blackburn was not present to press its consideration. though he entered the chamber five minutes later. On objection made by Mr. Hiscock (Rep., N. Y.) the bill was transferred to the "dead on the calendar, namely, the list of bills of called up under Rule 9, which practically never reached.

to be called up under Rule 9, which practically are never reached.

Mr. Proctor's bill, abolishing the office of Post Trader in the army on the termination of the present appointments, was passed.

Mr. Voorhees (Dem., Ind.) called up the Senate bill providing for the purchase for $75,000 of the library of the late George Bancroft, the historian, including 14,900 books and manuscripts and 5,000 pamphiets of great historical value, collected by him as material for his history of the United States. The bill was passed. The House bill was passed limiting the hours of lator of all laborers employed on tovernment works to eight hours per day.

At 2 o'clock, when the Anti-Option bill again came up as unfinished business. Mr. Hiscock and it was evident there was not a quorum of came up as unfinished business, Mr. missoca said it was evident there was not a quorum of Senators present. There were many Senators Senators present to leave Washington Senators present. There were many Senators who were proposing to leave Washington either to-night or to-morrow, and he appealed to the Senator from Minnesota (Mr. Washburn) to let the bill go over by unanimous consent until next December. Mr. Washburn declined, and, to test the sense of the Senate, moved to table Mr. Wolcott's motion to recommit the bill, and on this motion demanded the yeas and nays. The vote in detail was as follows, Democrats in italies and Alliance in small capitals:

Small capitals:

So the Senate refused to recommit the bill, and Mr. Washburn renewed his request to take a vote on the bill by unanimous consent at 4 o'clock to-morrow.

Mr. White (Dem., La.) objected, and the debate was resumed.

Mr. Paddock(Rep., Neb.) spoke in favor of the bill, and was supported by Mr. Turpie (Dem., Ind.), who declared his opinion that the bill was morally and legally right and that the measure was not obnoxious to the constitutional objections urged against it.

Mr. Carlisle (Dem., Kr.) gave notice that te-morrow afternoon he should submit some remarks upon the tariff resolutions of Mr. Hale.

The House resolution to adjourn on Saturday next, July 36, was referred to the Committee on Appropriations.

The Senate then resumed consideration of the Anti-Option bill, and adopted without dissent Mr. Washburn's motion to strike out section 12, requiring a $2 internal revenue license to be taken out by all dealers in contracts for the sale of agricultural products. The question then recurred on Mr. Daniel's motion to strike out the next section, on which another long debate was started.

The restiveness of the Senate became so great that Mr. Washburn himself indicated a purpose to move an adjournment, but before

ELLIS ISLAND INVESTIGATION.

Gen. Nettleton Held Responsible for the Waste and Extravagance.

WASHINGTON, July 28.—Representative Stump of Maryland, from the Committee on Immigra tion and Naturalization, submitted to the House to-day the report of the majority on the Ellis Island investigation, conducted under a resolution of the House. The report says that the committee have arrived at these conclu-he construction of improvements on Ellis Island.

That all the buildings, except two hospitals, are badly constructed, of inferior materia and poor workman thip, and should not have been accepted by the Govern nent in their present condition.

That George B. Hibbard, the superintendent of construction of the buildings and Improvements was with-out experience and wholly unfitted for that position; and that, during the construction of the buildings, be either knowingly and wilfully, or ignorantly permitted nferior lumber to be used, and allowed bad workman-Government and illegitimate advantage to contractors That the usual methods of the Treasury Department station, and proper safeguards were not taken to prevent a lavish expenditure of the immigrant fund for that purpose.

That the expenditures by the officials of the Treasury Department of $612,000 upon buildings and improve-ments which by a careful estimate were to cost only $250,000, which was the sum appropriated by Cou-gress, is without precedent and inexcusable.

The committee, the report says, has further arrived at these conclusions: That Assistant Secretary Nettleton has been smilty of great waste and extravagance in the lavish expendi-ture of the immigrant fund in the improvement of Ellis Island. He took entire charge of the work. He coked to him solely for direction and advice, and beyed his orders and instructions in matters relating money from the immigration fund and payments of money, and he is in a great measure responsible for the faulty construction of the buildings of in-ferior material and bad workmanship, and for the the faulty construction of the buildings of inferfor material and bad workmanship, and for the facts that the contractors were not required to faithfully comply with the pans and specilications of their contracts, which is passed and passed control of their main building and boiler house were reported completted, inspected, accepted, and paid for, except $1.44.32, and the contractors released from a penalty of $4.0 per diem, when the main building and other buildings were not in fact completed according to the contract, and should not have been accepted by the diovernment. His failure to inform himself of the condition of affairs at the time of the assuming control of the improvements at Ellis Island, his want of knowledge of the estimates for the completion of the work and of the testimony of becretary windom, showing that he improdently promindful of his predecessor's views, and fortune of the maintenance, which had not been previously touched, when there was on file an op-non of Fire Comproiler Matthews against the use, without consulting the legal advisors of the Government, demonstrate such a recktessures in the handling of public money and in the management of departmental affairs as to create trave apprehension. The obtaining of the opinion of the Attorney-General subsequent to this investigation does not render the use of the money before any the less thoughties or unpartonable.

That Assistant Secretary Nettetion has been guity of extra scance in operating and establishing the grants, and has appointed, or caused to be appointed, a much larger number of employees than are necessary for an economical administration of the business.

That the expenditure of $75 per diem or $27,35 per annum, for lorry boat tansportation to and from Ellis is and should be reduced, and the expenditure as a patriotic necessity for a tag pole, coating $1,600, should That the expenditure of $75 per diem, or $22,370 per annum, for levely boat tanhop relation to and from Ellis is and should be reduced, and the expenditure as a patriotic necessity for a lag pole, costing $1,600, should, it possible, be avoided.

That the expenditure of about $200,000 per annum for expenses at Ellis Island, and $100,000 at all other ports of entry in the inited States, excites alarm, and the committee is apprehensive that the cost of operating this system of inspection and landing of minitigations will not be self-entaining but will become a burden to the Government, and the committee respectively call the attention of the Secretary of the Treasury to the subject and recommend an investigation by him.

num. To Assistant Secretary Nettleton the committee must ascribe the transfer of $81,633.25 from the iminigration fund for improving Edia Island in the harbor of New York, ill excess of the amount collected at the port of New York, which is in direct violation of the provisions of the act of Aug. 3, 183. New York, in excess of the amount collected at the port of New York, which is in direct violation of the provisions of the act of Aug. 3, 1882.

To him must be ascribed the expenditure of $57,000 for ferry slips, the necessity for which is questionable, without first ascerts ning he right to seret the slip in cost of $2,225, and intended to expend $1, ashe as a cost of $2,225, and intended to expend $1, ashe as a cost of $2,225, and intended to expend $1, ashe and the necessity for which has not been demonstrated, the western Union Telegraph Company having an office at the island and paying for the privilege $2,000 per annum. He appointed or caused to be appointed Dr. J. A. Tonner, a civil surgeou, as medical inspector of immigrants at Ellis Island, in direct violation of the act of March 3, 1811, section it, which requires a surgeon of the marine hospital service to make the medical inspections.

the marine hospital service to make the medical in-spections.

The committee find that Superintendent of Immigra-tion (even had nothing whatever to do with the im-provements of Ellis Island and is in no way responsi-ble. While not assuming to pass upon the medical chi-controversy between Mr Nettleton and Mr. swen, it cannot refrain from saying that Mr. Owen acti-ticannot refrain from the Mr. Owen acti-ticannot ref office finituding as for as he was permitted.

The report says in conclusion that the committee bas heard unofficially, but with much gratification, that Assistant Secretary Nettleton has been relieved of all further connection with the management of immigration affairs, and that Assistant Secretary Spalding has been assigned to that duty.

Representative Epes of Virginia submits an independent report, in which he says that he does not think that Secretary Foster or Assistant Secretary Nettleton should be hold responsible for the condition of the improvements at Ellis Island. The blame, he thinks, should be placed on the shoulders of Mr. Owen, Mr. Edbroske, and the Superintendent of Buildings at Ellis Island.

Great surprise was caused today by his arrest on charges preferred by Margaret Roach, a domestic in the family with which Glover lived. The woman is 40 years old and Glover is 25. She had him taken before a Justice and accused him of assaulting her a few days ago. Many friends of the young man believe that the woman was made jealous by his approaching marriage. The Justice held him in $1.000 bail for trial. The bride firmly believes in his innocence, and the marriage will take place. and the marriage will take place.

HARRISON WANTS HARMONY.

HE CONFERS WITH CHAIRMAN CARTER AT THE WHITE HOUSE.

It Was Agreed That Hard Fighting Would Be Necessary to Carry New York, Indiana, and Two or Three Western States, Including Montana, but They Mave Bome Hopes of Carrying West Virginia, and Perhaps North Carolina and Tennessee-Collector Hendricks Tells the President Some Cold Pages About New York.

WASHINGTON, July 28.-Chairman Thomas H. Carter of the National Republican Commitse did not return to New York this morning. as it was appounced last night that he would do. He spent the morning in consultation with a large number of Republican statesmen and politicians who called to see him, and later in the day he had a conference with the President, which was attended by Mr. Clarkon and ex-United States Treasurer Huston of Indiana. Mr. Carter may remain in Washingon another day or two. The situation in New York and Indiana was thoroughly discussed. and it was agreed that some hard fighting was necessary to insure Republican success in those States. The President expressed an earnest desire to do all in his power to bring about the utmost harmony between the leaders of the party everywhere.

Mr. Carter talked this morning in the same smooth, sanguine, rosy-hued way that he did last night, although it was understoood that he was not near so olly in what he told the President about the prospects of the Republicans carrying New York, Indiana and two or three Western States, including Montana, as in his statement for the ear of the public. It is understood here that Mr. Carter is very much afraid he will be unable to carry his own State for the Republican ticket, and he was told very plainly by a Republican Senator from the West that there was no earthly show for them. This Senator is himself the authority for the statement that he has wagered for friend the sum of $1,000 that Harrison and Reid will lose Montana by a good round majority. This is not a bluff of any sort, the stakes having been placed in the hands of a jority. This is not a bluff of any sort, the stakes having been placed in the hands of a Republican Congressman.

At the White House conference yesterday, at which Mr. Carter and the President had such a long talk on the political outlook, it was agreed by those present that the Republicans have an exceptionally good opportunity this year to carry several Southern States, including North Carolina. Tennessee, and West Virginia. The Republicans are especially hopeful of wresting West Virginia from the Democrats, owing chiefly to the great political additity and high personal popularity of Secretary Elkins, who has taken the contract of overturning the Democratic majority in his State. There may be a more than usually sound basis for this hope, as it is understood that Wm. L. Wilson, who was yesterday renominated for Congress, has indicated that West Virginia was close at all times, and especially so this year.

Mr. McComas of Maryland, the new Secretary of the National Committee, is also said to be very sanguine of Republican success in several of the Southern States. Mr. McComas was a Congressman from Maryland for eight years, and was regarded there as the leader of the Southern Republicans. He is well posted on political affairs in the South, and enthusiastic at the prospect of Republican supermacy in these States in the near future. Mr. James S. Clarkson, however, who seems to be a very influential man in the National Committee, although he was not acceptable to the President as Chairman, does not agree with some of his colleagues on the subject of liepublican prospects in the South. Mr. Clarkson, ball on the subject of liepublican prospects in the South. Mr. Clarkson said to-day:

"I have never taken much stock in the idea of carrying Southern States, not because we have a very soft and of the States in the south of the States and the subject of liepublican prospects in the south of the States and the subject of liepublican prospects in the south of the States and the subject of liepublican prospects in the s some of his colleagues on the subject of the publican prospects in the South. Mr. Clarkson said to-day:

"I have never taken much stock in the idea of carrying Southern States, not because we have not votes enough in some of the States, but because we cannot get them counted. But at this time things look very favorable in North Carolina and Tennessee, and our friends there think we can win."

Mr. Clarkson is careful not to say what he thinks himself. The hopefulness of the Republican managers in regard to some of these Southern States is due more to the belief that the third party will disrupt the Democrats than to any information as to the increase of hepublican sentiment. As to North Carolina, for instance, it is understood that Senator Ransom, the best informed man in the State, said recently to some of his friends that things began to look rather equably for the Democrats, because of the prospects of a fusion between the Republicans and the third party men, which seems brighter than ever as a result of today's conventions. Such a combination, the Senator thinks, will be a very hard one to beat, and although, of course, the Republicans could not elect their ficket there, the joint effort of the Republicans and third party men might end in the defeat of the Democrats. This is the straw at which the Republican managers are grasping, and they will do some fine political work in the South-Republican managers are grasping, and they will do some fine political work in the South-

One thing that was talked of with much in-terest in the White House conference was the terest in the White House conference was the work of the literary bureau of the campaign, which is to be under Mr. Clarkson's special management and the character and number of publications of political matter were discussed. Another thing that was discussed was the organization of an Advisory Committee. Chairman Carter said that the names of this committee would not be made public by him, even after it had been decided upon. The opening of branch headquarters in Chicago, under a sub-committee of the National Committee, was under consideration, and President Harrison and Chairman Carter are said to have united in a request to Mr. Huston of Indiana to take charge of the Chicago branch. Mr. Huston said that he could not devote so much of his time to the campaign as the Chairmanship of that sub-committee would require, but announced his willingness to take a place on the sub-committee. Messrs, R. E. Evans of Minnes in and F. H. Rosewater of Nebraska are mentioned as two other members of the sub-committee. Mr. Evans is also spoken of as possible Chairman.

The President is evidently more than ever as two other members of the sub-committee. Mr. Evans is also spoken of as possible Chairman.

The President is evidently more than ever anxious about the situation in New York, for, notwithstanding Chairman Carter's enthusiastic report. Collector Hendricks, who was invited to come to Washington and give his views on the political outlook there, arrived here to-day and had a long consultation with the President at the White House. Mr. Hendricks is familiar with the ins and outs of New York politics, and told the President many things that the crafty Chairman of the National Committee could not know or learn in his Montana home. It is evident that the President is beginning to realize that Thomas C. Platt it still a power in the State of New York. Some of the President's friends are trying to make him believe that while Platt has many ardent admirers and followers, there is an element in certain portions of the State that capnot endure Platt's bessism, and threaten to stay away from the polls if he isto be selected as the Republican dictator again. Collector Hendricks, although an anti-Platt man, gave the President a very clear view of the situation and adv. sed that it would be well to have every flepublican in the State in a friendly mood during the approaching contest.

Gen. Clarkson and Chairman Carter again.

in a friendly mood during the approaching contest.

Gen. Clarkson and Chairman Carter again had long talks with the President this afterneon in the presence of Collector Hendricks, and there seems to be a pretty general understanding that absolute harmony is necessary in New York if the Republicans hope to carry that State. After hearing from these three experts on the subject of New York and national polities, the President took a long drive out into the country by himself to ponder over what he had heard. He returned to the White House just before dark, and, after eating his supper, went out on the south portion to smoke a sigar and confide in "Lige" Hallord. He had no other evening visitors. Messrs. Clarkson, Carter, and Hendricks dined to gether at the Arington Hotel, and later in the evening they separated to call on some friends.

Collector Hendricks may return to New York to-morrow, but Messrs. Carter and Clarkson expect to remain here a day or two longer. It is said that in a few days Mr. Flatt will run down to Washington, o-tensibly to attend to "some private business."

WAEN WILL THE WHEELS GO 'BOUND?

No steps were taken yesterday by the Republicans toward moving into the national headquarters at 518 Fifth avenue. Secretary Meromas said that they might move in to-day. Others thought possibly that the headquarters would not be formally occupied until Mr. Carter and Gen. Clarkson returned from their visit to the President. There appears to be as much trouble in getting into these headquarters as the President had in selecting a Chairman to run his campaign. The Executive Committeemen do not come to town, and there is schay all around.

At the her usediann State headquarters, in the Fith Avenue Hotel, the machinery is not moving either. Secretary McCommitteeme and some come to tow, and there is claim and headquarters. Chairman Hackett, liker Fox, and Brer Kenvon of the State bureau run down to Manhattan Beach, and John Reid, in charge of the interary bureau, has signal opportunities to pursue his inclination to literature other than on political tories.

This situation is becoming thresome, and loungers in the hotel corridors want to know when the wheels still go round. It was positively learned that nothing will break the monotony until Chairman Carter and exchairman Carteson return from Washington. Senterday, on his way from Washington to WAEN WILL THE WHEELS GO 'ROUND?

New Hampshire, to lunch with ex-Senator Thomas C. Platt. Renator Wolcott made the speech nominating Mr. Blaine at Minneapolis. Hoth men had many amusing stories to tell. Senator Wolcott is a great joker, and Mr. Platt kept pace with him. Senator Wolcott had all the Washington news at his tongue's end, and was thoroughly familiar with what occurred at the interview between the President and Mr. Carter, and Gen. Clarkson. It is believed that the President desires harmony now, and that all good Republicans will get to work as soon as the hot wave has gone.

Collector Hendricks went to Washington restorday to join those who insist that harmony shall be restored between the Washington and New York State Republicans.

OFF GOES PRATT'S HEAD,

And Gibbs Dresn't Get the Pince for Shadow Sol Berliner. Secretary Foster, against the formal protest of Appraiser Cooper, accepted yesterday the resignation of Assistant Appraiser Eugene W. Pratt. Pratt was in charge of the division of lumber, hides, fine woods, &c., and had been in the service seventeen years. He had limbed stendily from the lowest rung in the ladder at the Appraiser's stores. Pratt. it is known, received word from Washington that his resignation would be acceptable to the Secretary. The place is a Presidential appointment, and no reason was given for the request. Appraiser Cooper, who has valued the services of Pratt, protested to the President and the Secretary without avail.

Eben Demarest of the Seventeenth district (George Wanmaker's) will occupy Pratt's place from this morning. Fratt was forced out of his place at the request of Senator Hiscock, who, with all the Federal patronage at his back, could only muster thirty votes at Minneapolis for the President out of the seventy-two from the Empire State. Senator Hiscock desired to reward his allies at Minneapolis, and the head of Pratt would go a long way toward settling the score.

It was pretty warm down stairs in the street, but in comparison with the temperature up stairs it was a place of frosts and snowballs. The men sat around on wooden stools in their shirt sleeves, and big beads of perspiration dripped on the oliciothed floor. Charles P. Blake, the district leader of the New York Democracy, presided, William R. Grace spoke, He wore a thin alpace coat that was damp in spots. He said Mr. Blake should be indicted for murder for having a meeting in such weather. Then he said: "It's a good thing to raise a banner because it stirs up the people and brings votes to the Democratic paty. The party can only be perpetuated by the iesath of the Force bill and the election of the Democratic candidates."

The other speakers were Charles C. Abbott. Henry DeForest Baldwin, and Civil Justice Goldfogle.

ROURKE AND SILVER DOLLAR

May Decide To-sight Which Way the O'Brien Association Will Hend.

Barney Rourke, the Chairman of the Campaign Committee of the John J. O'Brien Association, has sent out a call for a meeting of the committee in the rooms of the associaion at 242 Grand street at 8 o'clock to-night. The other members of the committee are Silver Dollar Smith, Charles Z. Birnbaum. Frederick J. Seelig, Henry Loewy, Christian Goltz, William Snell, Maurice Gottlieb, Thomas J. Sullivan, Morris Isaacs, William B. Hanson, and William T. O'Brien. For more than a year Rourke and Smith have to en classed as. Tammany men. The association imported Gov. Flower and Senator Roesch last fail. But now they have a grievance against Tammany which may result in a boit to the Republicans. Smith was ambitious of being made the Tammany leader of the district even when he refused to become an enrolled member of the Tammany organization. When Harry Miner was made the leader Smith didn't like it. Rourke claims that Tammany promised him a big slice of patronage for his support of Flower and Roesch. He failed to go after this patronage and waited, in hones that it would be sent around to him. It didn't arrive and now it is likely that he and Smith, with the other members of the Campaign Committee, will discuss the advisability of flopping. Foltz, William Snell, Maurice Gottlieb, Thomas

Before leaving for Europe President John H V. Arnold of the Democratic Club appointed a ommittee of twenty-six to take charge of the club's share in the coming campaign. On Wednesday night this committee met and elected Macgrane Coxe Chairman and adopted the report of a sub-committee outlining the work to be done. It was decided to increase the number of the committee to thirty-livis. Authority was given to Chairman Coxe to appoint sub-committees. It was recommended by the sub-committee that the club shall send out to newspapers and to the voters generally "articles explaining the true issues of the campaign." This proposition was approved but the carrying out of the plat will depend upon the results of the future conferences with the National and State Committees.

The Michigan Respontionment Unconsti-

LANSING, July 28.—The Supreme Court has handed down opinions declaring unconstitu-tional the two Legislative bills reapportioning the Representatives and the Senators in the State Legislature. The Secretary of State is ordered to issue notices of election in accordance with the acts of 1881. The Court is unanimous in its opinion.

The effect of the decision will be to make it practically certain that the Republicans will elect the next United States Senator.

COUNTY DEMOCRACY PLANS.

Pight With Tammany If the Colts Can Down the Market Bureau,

Ernest Harvier, the Chairman of the County Demogracy Committee of ten, appointed to consider the reorganization of the districts was asked yesterday whether the County mor had mapped out any plan for participating it the approaching campaign, and if the men who have adhered to the organization through ts many defeats were working harmoniously together. Mr. Harvier replied: There is no discord in our ranks. A few of the back numbers, the moss-covered bucket veterans, want to go down with the ship. We. the younger element would prefer to keep floating. They don't want anything done; we do. They don't wish to nominate candidates. we do. They wish to turn their political toes to the daisies. We have no objection to that we do. They wish to turn their political toes to the daisies. We have no objection to that, but we prefer an upright to a recumbent position. Who oppose us? A handful You can find them all at 280 Broadway on ray day at the Comptroller's office. There is Secretary Metice, clerk of markets; Daniel Dowling, market collector; Henry Maurer, market collector; Peter Rush, whose son is in the Finance Department; Michael J. Burke who used to be in the department, and two or three others who would like to be there. Then again we occasionally get a consolatory visit from Market Collector Barnett, our leader in the Third; Market Collector Barnett, our leader in the Tenth last year, and others. Why, it is not so long ago that we were notified not to hold our meetings during office hours in the Market Bureau, because by so doing we would embarrass the husiness of that office.

"Personally, I think that after the investigation made of market bureau notifies the examination conducted by Mr. Barket and Mr. Holahan as commissioners of account, with De Lancey Nicoll as counsel, the less any party has to do with market bureau notifies the better. Temmany leaders think so. They are level-headed—as usual.

"Comptroller Myers? He is not a member of any local organization. He is in no wise responsible for the action of his subordinates, Judge Power? He is taking little part in notifies. Charless A. Jackson. Chairman of the County Democracy? An unright and honorable gentleman. Emphatically, he I all right. You see, the facts are, then, a handful of placeholder want to hold their small offices. They manny, so the series of how york not in fellowship with Tammany and to oppose wherever we can mittee of ten is an excellent one. Mr. Grote is the strongest Democrat outside of Tammany find in the east side. Judge Coulter has the mannet unreservedly commend is my selection as Chairman. Everything will come out all right at the end. In a fight between the quick and the dead it is pretty safe to bet on the will be held at the Cooper Union at 30 quick. We are going to harmony year. The next meeting of the committee of ten will be held at the Cooper Union at 3 - o'clock on next Tuesday.

THE IMBECILE SON'S THUST MONEY He Lived to Be 70 Years Old, and the $5,000 Increased to $65,000,

Justice Andrews of the Supreme Court heard irgument and reserved decision yesterday on a motion made in behalf of Mary F. Corse, 80 years old, for the appointment of a trustee to receive $1,100, to which she says she is entitled under the will of her great-grandfather. Thomas Leggett, who died in 1840.

Leggett's will made Augustus Schell trustee of $5,000 from which to look after the maintenance of a son, Joseph Loggett. Joseph was weak in mind and body, and it was not thought that he would live long, but he outlived Trustee Schell, and was nearly 70 years old at his death, about two years ago. The principal of the trust of $5,000 was by the will of old Leggett to go to his heirs on the death of his son. By judicious investment the $5,000 had increased to $65,000 on the death of Joseph. There are sixty-five heirs of Thomas Leggett, chiefly grand and great-grandchildren. receive $1,100, to which she says she is enti
